

CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH SERVICES

Write to us at:
California Partnership for Long-Term Care
Mail Stop 4100
P.O Box 997413
Sacramento, CA 95899-7413
(800) CARE-445
fax: (916) 552-8989

e-mail: cpltc@dhs.ca.gov

Visit our website at: www.dhs.ca.gov/cpltc

"A Partnership for Dignity"

—Sacramento Bee editorial endorsement (Nov. 1994)

Arnold Schwarzenegger Governor State of California

Kimberly Belshé Secretary Health and Human Services Agency

Sandra Shewry
Director
Department of Health Services

The California
Partnership
for Long-Term Care

Preserve Your Independence
& Secure Lifetime
Asset Protection

Nearly half of people over age 65 will have at least one stay in a nursing home.

Source: New England Journal of Medicine (Feb. 28, 1991)

hank you for requesting information on the State of California's Partnership for Long-Term Care program.

We've created this booklet to provide an overview of the Partnership program and to answer the most frequently-asked questions.

The State of California and the California Partnership do not sell long-term care insurance policies. However, we've included in this booklet a list of the private insurance companies that are approved to sell Partnership policies in California.

If you don't have long-term care insurance for yourself, your spouse or your loved ones, we urge you to meet with a qualified agent who can more completely describe the Partnership-certified policies and discuss which policies could best meet your needs.

Only a Partnership-certified policy can provide the care you may need and lifetime asset protection so you will not be forced to spend everything you have worked for on long-term care. It truly provides the independence you want...just when you'll need it the most.

Brenda Bufford, Chief California Partnership for Long-Term Care

Take the next step today...

For more complete details on Partnership policies and premium costs, you may call:

- Bankers Life and Casualty (888) 2828-BLC
- Genworth Financial (800) 354-6896
- John Hancock Life Insurance Company (800) 377-7311
- MetLife (888) 4CA-PLAN
- New York Life Insurance (800) 224-4582
- CalPERS Long-Term Care Program* (800) 205-2020

*All California public employees, retirees and their spouses, siblings (age 18 and older), parents and parents-in-law are eligible to apply. Call CalPERS for open enrollment period dates.

The California Department of Aging's Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy Program (HICAP) has trained, impartial volunteer counselors available to meet with you to discuss your long-term care needs and to help you with questions you may have. You may call HICAP at (800) 434-0222. Appointments and consultations are free of charge.

The California Partnership for Long-Term Care has been endorsed by the following leading organizations:

- ~ California Medical Association (CMA)
- ~ California Commission on Aging
- ~ CA Retired Public Employees Association
- ~ California State Employees' Association
- California State University-Emeritus Retired Faculty Association
- California Association for Adult Day Services
- California Association for Health Services at Home
- California Association of Health Facilities
- California Association of Homes and Services for the Aging
- California Association of Residential Care Homes
- California Pharmacists Association's Long Term Care Management Council
- Community Residential Care Association of California
- ∼ Mt. Zion Institute on Aging
- Senior Care Network/Huntington Memorial Hospital

What exactly is long-term care?

Long-term care is different from the rest of your health care, and it's not typically covered under health insurance policies, HMO plans, Medicare or Medicare supplemental policies.

Health care plans are designed to provide coverage when you receive care from a doctor or treatment in a hospital. Some may also cover nursing home care or home care — but typically only on a short-term or limited basis.

Long-term care is personal care, such as help with bathing, eating or dressing that you require over a lengthy period. That's why it can be very expensive. Long-term care can range from simple assistance with activities in your own home or a residential care facility or it can mean highly skilled care in a nursing facility.

The possibility of needing long-term care due to an illness or physical disability is something most people would rather not think about. But as we get older, and because we are living longer, the likelihood that we will need some kind of assistance is very real. Long-term care coverage will help you live your life with dignity and with independence.

Nursing bome care in California averages about $190 a day or over $69,000 a year in 2006.

> Source: CA Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development & California Partnership for Long Term Care

What every Californian needs to know.

If you require long-term care because of a chronic physical condition such as arthritis or Parkinson's disease, who will pay for it? Should you need assistance because of a degenerative mental disease, such as Alzheimer's, who will pay for care? The answer is probably you, unless you act to protect yourself.

Chances are you're NOT covered for long-term care.

Your actual risk of needing long-term care - either at home or in a nursing home - is greater than 50 percent. Nursing home costs in California average $190 a day in 2006.

Of those who enter a nursing home, 55 percent will stay at least a year and 21 percent will remain longer than five years.² Care in your own home can be more costly than care in a nursing home.

Paying for long-term care, either for yourself or a loved one, can mean sacrificing a lifetime of savings or losing your financial independence, unless you plan ahead.

Californians have an affordable alternative to pay for this care.

The California Partnership for Long-Term Care is an innovative program of the State of California in cooperation with a select number of private insurance companies.

¹ "Who Buys Long-Term Care Insurance? 1994 - 1995 Profiles and Innovations in a Dynamic Market", Health Insurance Association of America/Life Plans, Inc., pg.2 afford. This added protection and peace of mind comes only with the purchase of a Partnership policy.

Each insurance company offering Partnership policies has its own premium rates. However, the younger you are when you purchase coverage, the less expensive your annual premium will be. That is a good reason to buy now rather than waiting.

How do I get Partnership coverage?

Partnership long-term care insurance policies may only be sold by select insurance companies that provide policies which meet the special standards established by the State. The names and toll free numbers of these approved participants are listed on page 11.

Partnership long-term care insurance policies are only marketed by licensed insurance professionals who have completed special training required by the State of California.

A Partnership policy, with its unique lifetime asset protection feature, ensures that you will not be forced to spend everything you have worked for on long-term care.

9

² A "Long-Term" Solution to a Medicaid Problem, National Center for Policy Analysis, November 17, 1995

What does a Partnership policy cost?

Partnership policies cost approximately the same as other policies that offer similar coverage. But Partnership policies include lifetime asset protection against the high cost of long-term care and access to Medi-Cal services should you ever need them—a significant benefit at no added cost.

Because of the Partnership asset protection feature, you don't have to worry that you may run out of insurance benefits and end

If you are 60, you can expect to pay
an annual premium
between $1,200 - $1,500*
for a policy that will pay $130 a day in a nursing bome, residential care facility, or in your bome/community for at least one year and protect $47,000 in assets.

*Premium range for CA Partnersbip policies up spending the savings that you hoped to protect paying for on-going care needs.The asset protection feature enables middle income Californians to purchase policies with coverage equal to the amount of assets they want to protect—starting at $47,000, up to your total assets-with the assurance that these assets are protected for life, no matter how extended or expensive their long-term care needs may be. Without a Partnership policy, you could only achieve lifetime asset protection by purchasing lifetime insurance coverage...something most people cannot These insurers have agreed to offer high quality policies that meet stringent standards set by the Partnership and the State of California. These special policies are commonly called "Partnership policies."

Types of Partnership Policies

Two types of Partnership policies are available: policies that cover care in a facility (residential care facility and nursing home care) or policies that cover care at home, in the community, as well as residential and nursing facility care.

You choose the type of policy and the amount of coverage you want. Policies offer coverage from one year through a lifetime.

The Partnership has taken the guesswork out of selecting a high quality policy

To be assured you're selecting high quality coverage, all Partnership policies include:

- automatic inflation protection to ensure that your benefits keep pace with the rising cost of care;
- a deductible that must be met only once in your lifetime;
- care coordination to assist you in planning and securing the services you want and need;
- waiver of premiums while you receive care in a nursing home or residential care facility; and
- interchangeable policy benefits so that care can be customized to meet your individual needs.

8

5

Jbe California Partnership for Long-Term Care: An Affordable Alternative for Californians

What makes a Partnership policy unique?

First and foremost, a Partnership longterm care policy will:

- protect your independence by ensuring that you're covered for long-term care expenses; and
- maintain your dignity by assuring you will not have to depend on others for your care needs.

But a Partnership policy does something more, something unique. It contains a "lifetime asset protection" feature. This assures that catastrophic long-term care expenses won't reduce you to poverty even if you run out of insurance benefits. That's something non-Partnership long-term care insurance policies can not offer.

Here's how this special feature works. When you need care:

 your Partnership-certified private longterm care insurance policy pays for your care in the same way other high quality long-term care policies would; but, unlike a traditional policy, each dollar your Partnership policy pays out in benefits entitles you to keep a dollar of your assets if you ever need to apply for Medi-Cal services.

For many people, the benefits of their private Partnership insurance policy will provide all the care they ever need. But, because of the unique asset protection feature, you won't have to impoverish yourself if you run out of insurance benefits and still need care.

You can apply to Medi-Cal for assistance in paying the cost of your continued care and not have to spend all your hard earned savings to the poverty level. Each dollar your Partnership policy pays in benefits for your care is protected against Medi-Cal "spend down" rules. You may have to apply a portion of your income toward the cost of your care. But the assets you protected by purchasing a Partnership policy remain yours—for you, your spouse or to leave to your loved ones.

"Every once in a while an idea comes along that has some real merit. The California Partnership is a case in point."

-Senior World, October 1994